Unlocking the Lustre

WELCOME TO HYDERABAD, THE CITY OF PEARLS!

ADAAB, MOTI LOVERS!

You've just set foot in a city where royalty is not just a memory, but a mood. A city famed not just for its biryani or its history, but for a treasure that has captivated royals and collectors for centuries. Where every street echoes with sher, every dish is a feast, and every second shop shimmers with pearls. Yes, welcome to Hyderabad, the one and only City of Pearls, where grace and glitter go hand-in-hand like chai and Osmania biscuits.

Let's take you on a walk - no, a royal procession - through Hyderabad's pearly past, sparkling present, and ever-radiant charm. But how did a landlocked city become the global hub for these oceanic gems?

Let's unveil the shimmering secrets!

A ROYAL HISTORY DRAPED IN PEARLS!

The story of Hyderabad and pearls is deeply intertwined with the wealth and power of the Nizams, the rulers of the Asaf Jahi dynasty. With vast territories and lucrative trade routes, the Nizams amassed incredible riches. They had extensive connections, particularly with the Persian Gulf, which was historically a major source of the finest natural pearls, like the legendary Basra pearls.

The Nizams didn't just buy pearls; they invested heavily in the pearl trade and, crucially, in the craftsmanship needed to process them. They brought in skilled artisans from across the globe, who perfected the intricate techniques of pearl drilling, polishing, and sorting right here in Hyderabad.

Fun Fact Alert!

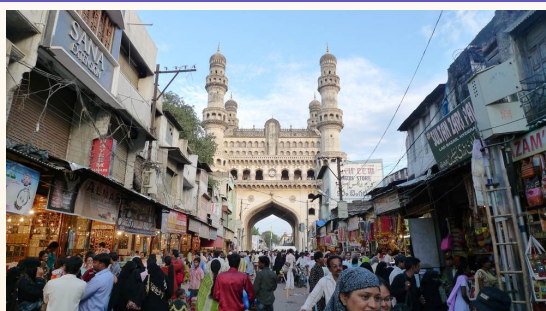

Hyderabad became famous not for producing pearls (it has no sea!), but for being the world's foremost center for processing, sorting, grading, and drilling raw pearls with unparalleled skill!

THE MAGIC TOUCH: PROCESSING PROWESS!

What made Hyderabad unique was this incredible processing capability. Raw pearls arriving from the Gulf or other sources were often irregular or needed preparation. Hyderabadis developed unique, almost magical, techniques to drill microscopic holes without cracking the pearl, polish them to enhance their lustre, and painstakingly sort them by size, shape, and quality.

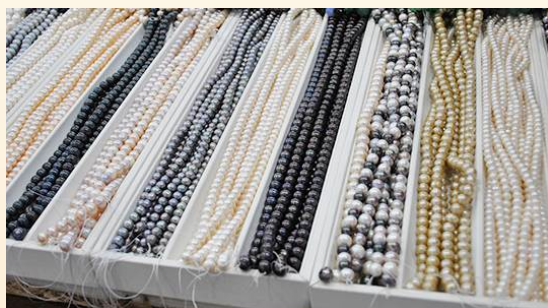

WHERE THE PEARLS PARTY – FROM STREETS TO SHOWROOMS

Hyderabad wears its sparkle on its sleeve - and its shops. Whether you're a Nawab in search of legacy or a tourist looking for a souvenir, these locations are a must-visit:

Laad Bazaar (Charminar's BFF): Chaotic, colorful, and completely addictive. Next to Charminar, this bazaar has been selling pearls, bangles, and bridal dreams for over 400 years.

Pathergatti: Built during the reign of the Nizams, this iconic market was once a marble-stoned marvel and remains the epicenter of traditional pearl trade.

Sultan Bazaar, MG Road, Punjagutta & Jubilee Hills: From budget-friendly deals to high-end certified gems, these areas cater to all kinds of shoppers - from college girls buying first jhumkas to brides-to-be looking for their big day glow.

Did You Know?

Hyderabad is still one of the largest pearl drilling and processing hubs in India, with over 500 pearl processing units buzzing quietly behind the scenes!

THE NIZAMI OBSESSION – PEARLS AS POWER

In Hyderabad, pearls weren't just accessories - they were statements. The Nizams of Hyderabad, among the richest royals in the world, wore pearls not just on their sherwanis and turbans, but even sewed them onto socks and pyjamas!

Mir Osman Ali Khan, the last reigning Nizam, reportedly kept a diamond the size of a papaya as a paperweight and had cupboards full of pearl-studded walking canes, clocks, and prayer beads.

WHEN IN HYDERABAD,
LET IT SHINE!

As you take part in the conversations and discoveries of PEDICRITICON 2025, take a moment to explore the shimmering legacy that gave this city its nickname. Whether you buy a pearl pendant, stroll through Laad Bazaar, or simply admire the artistry in a display case, remember - in Hyderabad, every pearl carries the memory of a dynasty, the touch of an artisan, and the glow of generations.

Because here, even the air seems to shine.

Welcome to Hyderabad - the City of Pearls.

Where tradition gleams just as brightly as the future.

Royal Quirk Alert:

The Nizam was once so generous with his gifts that he reportedly handed out pearl necklaces to British officers' wives as goodbye gifts.
